

Experience Glacier 3000 accompanied by a Ski Instructor

Gstaad, December 19, 2008. As of December 2008, the Glacier 3000 ski area is offering a new adventure for all snow sport fans: a guided tour of the area with a ski instructor and skiing lessons. Glacier 3000 is working together with three local ski schools to make this unique offer possible.

For those interested in getting to know the area better, this is a great opportunity to do this by exploring it with a local ski instructor. There is a guided tour in the morning beginning at 10.30h, which is free of charge. The meeting point is at the Scex Rouge mountain top station (by the ski school flag).

In the afternoon between 12.00h and 16.00h, you can take skiing lessons. These cost CHF 80.00 per hour and are payable in cash directly to the ski instructor. You can also discuss the desired route, the degree of difficulty and length of time directly with your ski instructor.

To make this offer possible, Bernhard Tschannen, Marketing Director of Glacier 3000, was able to partner with three of the local Swiss Ski and Snowboard Schools – Saanen-Schönried, Gstaad and Les Diablerets – that are providing the ski instructors for this unique offer. Reservations for both the guided tour and the skiing lessons are recommended.

Reservations can be made in person at the Ski Rental Shop by the cable car station in Scex Rouge or by calling +41 (0)24 492 33 95.

The event organizer reserves the right to change or cancel the program due to weather conditions.

Glacier 3000 (25 km of ski runs, winter season 25.10.2008 - 03.05.2009) is part of the ski areas Gstaad Mountain Rides (250 km of ski runs, winter season 01.11.2008 - 30.04.2009) and Alpes Vaudoises (225 km of ski runs, winter season 01.11.2008 - 03.05.2009).
